

WHAT TO EXPECT

WHEN YOU SEE AN ACCREDITED EXERCISE PHYSIOLOGIST (AEP) FOR THE FIRST TIME

Working with an Accredited Exercise Physiologist (AEP) can be a truly rewarding process and they can make a hugely positive impact to your life.

WHAT MAKES AEPs DIFFERENT TO OTHER EXERCISE PROFESSIONALS?

- They are university qualified
- They are subject to strict accreditation requirements
- They are eligible to register with Medicare Australia, the Department of Veterans' Affairs and WorkCover and are recognised by most private health insurers
- They can treat and work with all types of people, those who want to improve their health and wellbeing to those unfortunately living with a chronic illness.

What makes AEPs even more special is they know how to set goals and maintain motivation, these are two aspects that will most commonly see people fail at exercise.

SO WHAT SHOULD YOU EXPECT ON YOUR JOURNEY WITH AN ACCREDITED EXERCISE PHYSIOLOGIST?

STEP 1

Search for an AEP

If you search 'Accredited Exercise Physiologist' and your suburb you will easily find an AEP near you.

Alternatively you can visit www.essa.org.au and type in your post code. The website supports many different languages so anyone can use it with ease.

STEP 2

Make contact

Call or email your friendly AEP and book in an appointment. Allow up to an hour for your initial consultation.

STEP 3

Initial Consultation

During your first session with an AEP, they will undertake a comprehensive assessment in order to develop an exercise plan based on your unique requirements.

This session will most likely be a fair few questions about your health and history.

A lot of people are concerned about what to wear for this appointment. We always say wear loose comfortable clothing as you may be asked to do a range of movements, it is highly unlikely that you will be doing any actual 'exercising' so no need to pack the lycra!

After this session, an AEP will provide you with a plan of action.

In some situations your AEP may advise a referral to another health or medical professional.

STEP 4

Implementing Your Plan

The next step is actually undertaking the plan as set out by your AEP. This can sometimes be home based exercises, exercises at the clinic or joining your AEP at a local gym. This is the time you need to have your work out gear on.

STEP 5

Check-ups and tracking

This is the point where you will have a catch up with your AEP and monitor and check out how you are tracking.

An AEP will always compare your current health status with previously established results. This catch up will determine the next course of action – this could be more sessions with under direct guidance from an AEP or a plan for you to do in your own time.

STEP 6

Teaching you how to take control of your health

Throughout the entire process, an AEP will work with you to implement a number of strategies to help you manage your health in the future.

THINGS AN AEP WILL NEVER DO:

- Judge you or make you uncomfortable about your health levels or goals
- Never leave any question unanswered
- Take the motto "no pain, no gain"
- Will never take a one size fits all approach
- Will never dictate, they will always work with you to achieve your goals
